

CAMPUS-WIDE NAMED CHAIRS AND PROFESSORSHIPS NOMINATION PROCESS

2025-26 Named Chairs and Professorships

The following campus-wide professorships are available for the 2025-26 academic year:

The Ingeborg Professorship and the Frederick W. Koser Chair are awarded on the basis of outstanding performance. Appointments are made for a three-year period. The professorship/chair appointment typically carry a $5,000 supplement to the annual salary. Eligibility is limited to faculty holding the rank of full professor. The professorships/chair are renewable for one three-year period based on review of performance. Faculty currently holding another designated professorship may be considered; however, only one such appointment may be held at a time.

The Peter Kiewit Distinguished Professorship is awarded on the basis of outstanding performance. Appointments are made for a three-year period. The professorship typically carries a $5,000 supplement to the annual salary. Eligibility is limited to faculty holding the rank of full professor. The professorship is renewable for one three-year period based on review of performance. Faculty currently holding another designated professorship may be considered; however, only one such appointment may be held at a time.

of outstanding performance. Appointments are made for a three-year period. The professorship/chair appointment typically carry a $5,000 supplement to the annual salary. Eligibility is limited to faculty holding the rank of full professor. The professorships/chair are renewable for one three-year period based on review of performance. Faculty currently holding another designated professorship may be considered; however, only one such appointment may be held at a time.

The Peter Kiewit Distinguished Professorship is awarded on the basis of outstanding performance. Appointments are made for a three-year period. The professorship typically carries a $5,000 supplement to the annual salary. Eligibility is limited to faculty holding the rank of full professor. The professorship is renewable for one three-year period based on review of performance. Faculty currently holding another designated professorship may be considered; however, only one such appointment may be held at a time.

“

Teaching

Exceptional classroom teaching (e.g. course evaluations, peer observations, pedagogical

[REDACTED]

tools, service learning, honors sections)

- Teaching excellence outside the classroom (e.g. chair/member student honors, thesis, or dissertation committee, mentoring students or supervising student research or

[REDACTED]

- Three external letters of support that speak to the research/creative activity record and specifically address its broader impact on the discipline as well as its impact beyond the

cbatton@unomaha.edu

A sample (i.e., 3-5 items) of the nominee's research or creative activity

Application materials must be received electronically by March 1, 2025 for full consideration by the Professorship Committee. Applicants are asked to submit materials consisting of only the required files (i.e. personal statement, CV, nomination letter, dean's support letter, 3-5 samples of work) by sharing a OneDrive or SharePoint folder with Christine Hoffman

cbatton@unomaha.edu