

2024 JOSEPH AND REBECCA MEYERHOFF ANNUAL LECTURE

PRESERVING SHARED HISTORY: ART IN INTERNMENT DURING THE HOLOCAUST

Wednesday, May 1, 2024
7 p.m. CT (8 p.m. ET)

Location: University of Nebraska at Omaha
Barbara Weitz Community Engagement Center
Room 201
6400 South University Drive Road North Street,
Omaha NE 68182
Reception at 6:00 PM CT

Join us for a discussion about art created by Jewish and Black artists interned during the Holocaust and World War II. The speakers will analyze the importance of art in documenting persecution and murder, while bearing witness to the atrocities and preserving the stories of those who endured the Holocaust including the stories of victim groups othered in society. They will also analyze how, in some cases, creating art in internment was therapeutic, empowering, and preserved a sense of connection with a prewar past.

Examine Friedl Dicker-Tittmoning internment camps for enemy aliens.

Sarah Phillips Casteel, Professor, Department of English Language and Literature, Carleton University

IN PARTNERSHIP WITH

Elizabeth Otto, Professor of Modern and Contemporary Art History, University at Buffalo

Danielle Battisti, Department Chair, Associate Professor of History, University of Nebraska at Omaha

This program is free and open to the public, but registration is required.

Joseph and Rebecca Meyerhoff of Baltimore, Maryland, were active philanthropists in the United States and abroad, focusing especially on Jewish learning and scholarship, music, the arts and humanitarian causes. Their children, Eleanor Katz and Harvey M. Meyerhoff, member and chairman emeritus of the United States Holocaust Memorial Council, have endowed this lecture.

Scan the QR code or visit ushmm.org/events/ASU2023 to register. The program is free and open to the public, but reservations are required.

Image: Painting by Josef Nassy of the Tittmoning camp in Nazi Germany, where he was interned.

ushmm.org/connect

