

SHARED COMMITMENT

Community building partners located in the CEC are asked to be active participants in the CEC environment and contribute positively to its success. This is achieved by taking advantage of opportunities to work with students, faculty, staff, and community organizations in ways that derive mutual benefits. Here are some examples of how our building partners meet these expectations:

- Offering student internships, service learning opportunities
- Participate in special lectures and seminars open to selected students
- ~~Offering student internships, service learning opportunities~~
